ANNOUNCEMENTS

Father Tony Stanonik recently celebrated his 39th anniversary of priestly ordination.

He was ordained for the Diocese of San Diego on July 9, 1982. But he has served for more than 22 years in Nicaragua. He requested and received permission from the bishop of San Diego to serve as a missionary. He sees himself as "an outreach of our local Church," essentially on "loan" to the bishop of Bluefields, Nicaragua.

Since 2003, he has been pastor of St. Martin de Porres Parish in the Diocese of Bluefields on the Caribbean coast of Nicaragua. Through the generous donations the parishioners of Queen of Angels Church raised $2,999.50 to support St. Martin de Porres Parish. On behalf of Fr. Tony, THANK YOU!

The Impact of poverty in Nicaragua

Economy: Though the unemployment rate is 5.6% , underemployment is at 46.5% . This means the average income of families living in rural Nicaragua is less than $500 annually.

Poverty: About 48% of the population lives below the poverty line.

Education: Only 67% of the population can read and write.

Malnutrition: 22% of the children under 5 suffer stunted growth due to inadequate nutrition and lack of food.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP – RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

What's Your Hearth Cake?

"Get up and eat, or the journey will be too much for you." I've been to a lot of meetings in my years of work in the Church, and you can take my word for it: the ones with snacks just seem to go better.

I don't know what it is exactly. Maybe it's just that people are in a more agreeable mood if you show up with donuts. Or maybe it's about the very real sense of community and camaraderie that is created at a table where people are engaging in that most human of tasks — eating — beside one another. I think a big part of it comes down to the simple fact that we're all just nicer people when we're fed.

This rings true spiritually, too. We simply must remain fed if we, in turn, are to feed others. Think of a time when you have neglected your relationship with God — when you haven't fed yourself with whatever it is that you need to remain committed to the journey of a Christian life. Is it Mass attendance? Is it prayer or Scripture reading? Is it time with your small group, or conversation with a trusted friend who knows your soul? What sustains your ability to be a good disciple, a good steward? What inspires you to give more freely, to love more abundantly?

Whatever it is, that's your hearth cake. That's your jug of water. Don't neglect it. The Angel of the Lord is nudging you in your sleep: "Get up and eat, or the journey will be too much for you."

Marriage and Coffee

Shortly after tying the knot, a young married couple started arguing over who should make the coffee. Being a good Christian woman, the wife went to the scriptures for her answer. She said that the Bible specifically stated that men should be the ones to make the coffee.

Puzzled, the husband asked her where in the Bible it said that. Very confidently, the wife opened up her Bible and said, "It's right here — HEBREWS."

19th SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

"I am the bread of life. Your ancestors ate the manna in the desert, but they died; this is the bread that comes down from heaven so that one may eat it and not die." - Jn 6:48-50

GOD: SOMEONE WHO CANNOT WAIT TO HEAR OUR VOICES

BY JEANNE HUNT, RCL BENZINGER

Summer is a time to slow down. "Today's family is very busy in our two-incomes-per-household society. Time for family prayer is the one of the first thing to be accidentally and very subtly overlooked," writes Jeanne Hunt. Summer can be a great opportunity to try something different or restore something that was slowly forgotten or neglected in the daily grind of work, school and activities. Jeanne reflects on ways we can bring back prayer into our family's life or create a habit of prayer if we never had one before.

"Bless us, O Lord, for these thy gifts..."

It seems as if the kids raced through the blessing before meals like a dog after a bone. In fact, all of us have our standard-issue prayers that roll off our tongue but never register in our brain.

Many of us have lost that deliberate sense of prayerfulness we once embraced when we first began reciting the rich tradition of Catholic formal prayers. So how can we begin to shake out of our spiritual ruts within our own families and homes?

We can start restoring family prayer by looking for a time to pray together other than before meals. In many families it is the custom to have a family meeting or activity one night each week. These gatherings can begin with a brief prayer.

Married couples can pray together before bed. And of course, night prayers with children (from infancy to teen years) can be that reassuring pause that puts the day's worries and fears in God's hands before sleep. Whatever time that is chosen, make it a priority.

We should begin look for moments of spontaneous moments prayer with our children. These small pockets of prayer serve to remind us that throughout the day, God is with us. When a need arises (someone is sick or injured, a child is disappointed, etc.) stop the activities and pause to pray. We can encourage times when we pray without a memorized verse.

While traditional Catholic prayer is important, it is also vital to teach our children to pray from the heart. These small pockets of prayer are the first entries into a personal and intimate relationship with God. We start to realize that God is not a long-distance entity. God wants to be up close and very personal.

Another way to eliminate the rut is to have a family prayer bowl in the house. Put a small wooden bowl in a prominent spot with paper and pencil. Invite family members to write down their prayer intentions and put them in the bowl. Each night before supper, have a different family member lift up the bowl as everyone silently asks God to hear those prayers. Once a month empty the bowl and give thanks for prayers answered.

Parents need to create seasonal rituals as well. Pray for peace, have a silent hour each day of Lent, create an Alleluia banner for Easter, bless your pets on the feast of St. Francis, write a family thanksgiving prayer, have an Advent wreath, bless your nativity crèche.

Our task as parents is to invite God into our lives by simply speaking to him within the walls of our homes. Prayer is not reserved for one hour on Sundays at Mass. Prayer is a conversation with Someone within who cannot wait to hear our voices.
