PASTOR'S PAGE

We are concluding our Liturgical Year this Thirty-third week of Ordinary Time (from Advent to Advent), as The Church does, with a reflection upon the end times [CCC 1022]. Traditionally The Church turns towards a reflection upon the four last things: death, judgment, heaven, and hell. How fitting it is for us to think about the end of the world in the late autumn when the leaves have fallen, the cold and darkness increases, and the world itself takes upon itself the appearance of death. In the Gospel [Lk 21:5-19] Our Lord is asked by His Apostles, "Teacher, when will this happen? And what sign will there be when all these things are about to happen?" Then Our Lord gives certain signs that must happen first. Let us think about these "signs", so that we may understand the End of Days and not be deceived into following after many of the false teachings that abound among the false prophets of doom.

The very first thing is to say what the end is not. We should dismiss what the Church calls 'millenarianism' or 'secular messianism'. This is the notion that heaven will be here upon earth, that over a certain amount of time of progressive ascendancy mankind will be free of every evil, and we will have heaven on earth. This includes the notion of what some protestant evangelists call "the rapture", which is totally false and demonically deceptive. Only in Christ, the true messiah and savior, can we overcome the real evil which is sin and in turn come to inherit the kingdom of God which is "not of this world" [Jn 18:36].

We can say something about what the end of the world will be like based upon Revelation in Christ. There are signs, as Our Lord tells us in the Gospel today, and many others, including: The Gospel will have been preached throughout the world [Mt 24:14]. There will be a Great Apostasy [II Thes 2:3; Lk 18:8; Mt 24:12] whereby many shall fall away from the true faith of Christ and His Church. There will be False Messiahs [Lk 21:8] who will make claims about salvation through themselves and not the Catholic Church. What is termed in Sacred Scripture "The Restrainer" will be removed [II Thes 2:6-7], that is, something that greatly holds back evil in the world will be eliminated. There will also be a Great Persecution [Lk 21:12], perhaps world-wide, whereby Christians will be tortured and killed. Of course Our Lord mentions in today's Gospel that there will be Wars and insurrections, Nation rising against nation, powerful earthquakes, famines, plagues, and mighty signs from the sky [Lk 21:11]. And finally, in the end there will be Peace and security [I Thes 5:3], so that the world will think that all its major problems have finally been solved. Then the full number of the elect will have been reached [Eph 4:13; Rom 11:25], those among the gentiles who wish salvation in Christ will be completed, and there will even be a major conversion of the Jewish people [Rom 11:26].

And the best sign for last, a great evil will appear in the form of The Antichrist [I Jn 2:18, 22; 4:3; II Jn 1:7], which the consensus of the early Church Fathers thought to be an actual person, although the Church has not defined in what form this antichrist will be. The Church does teach [CCC 675], however, that, the antichrist will take, "...the form of a religious deception offering men an apparent solution to their problems at the price of apostasy from the truth. The supreme religious deception is that of the Antichrist, a pseudo-messianism by which man glorifies himself in place of God and of his Messiah come in the flesh." And further on... [CCC 676] "The Antichrist's deception already begins to take shape in the world every time the claim is made to realize within history that messianic hope [of true salvation] which can only be realized beyond history through the eschatological judgment."

Simply put, the antichrist will be so powerful that only Christ Himself will overpower him through the Parousia, the second and glorious final coming of Christ as judge of the living and the dead on the day of the Resurrection. And so, the Church teaches [CCC 677] that there will be victory over this supreme evil "...only by God's victory over the final unleashing of evil, which will cause his Bride to come down from heaven. God's triumph over the revolt of evil will take the form of the Last Judgment after the final cosmic upheaval of this passing world." The world will end by fire and only those who persevere through faith and repentance to the very end will be saved.

We live in very interesting times. Although the true Catholic Gospel has been preached to all the world, we certainly see many false messiahs and false religions. We have seen, since the Second Vatican Council, a great falling away in members of the Church – even priests and nuns -- could this be the great apostasy? We listen daily to the news and hear about wars, earthquakes, famines, and plagues. We see how the Church's political and moral influence is being eroded in our society day by day; could this be the restrainer of the world's evil being removed slowly but surely? We can see how prejudice, bigotry, and persecution against Christians are growing in our society. More and more Christianity (and morality) is being seen as the very thing that inhibits our world from advancing in thought, learning, and happiness. It is for this reason that the progressive atheists would like to see nothing more than the destruction of Christianity and specifically the Catholic Church. For the first time since the Roman's destruction of Jerusalem in 70 A.D. we see the Jewish nation being reestablished in Palestine. As for the world ending by fire, since the 1950's there has been the possibility of the world being ignited with fire through the impending doom of a nuclear holocaust.

I say these things not to cause distress or worry, but simply to make us think. What Our Lord said and questioned over two thousand years ago is taking shape all around us... "...because of the increase of evil, the love of many will grow cold [Mt 24:12]" "and when the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on earth? [Lk 18:8]"

Autumn Blessings,
Father Tim

POPE FRANCIS TO PUBLISH VATICAN MCCARRICK REPORT 'SOON'

<https://www.catholicnewsagency.com/news/cardinal-omalley-pope-francis-will-publish-vatican-mccarrick-report-soon-40701>

Baltimore, Md., Nov 11, 2019 (CNA) by Matt Hadro [Edited for clarity]

The results of the Vatican's investigation of Theodore McCarrick should be published by early 2020, Cardinal Sean O'Malley of Boston told U.S. bishops on Monday. "The intention is to publish the Holy See's response soon, if not before Christmas, soon in the new year," Cardinal O'Malley said on Monday afternoon.

O'Malley presented a brief update on the status of the Vatican's McCarrick investigation during the annual fall meeting of the U.S. bishops in Baltimore, Maryland, held from Nov. 11-13. Earlier on Monday morning, Bishop Earl Boyea of Lansing, Michigan, had requested that an update on the Vatican's McCarrick investigation to be added to the agenda of the bishops' meeting. Bishop Joseph Strickland of Tyler, Texas, seconded the motion and the bishops approved it by a voice vote.

* * * * * TIMELINE OF EVENTS * * * * *

June 2018 Reports of McCarrick's history of sexual abuse were initially made public when the Archdiocese of New York had announced that a sexual abuse allegation against then-retired Cardinal McCarrick was "credible and substantiated."

July 2018 Subsequent reports of sexual abuse or harassment of children and seminarians by McCarrick surfaced, and Pope Francis accepted his resignation from the College of Cardinals and assigned him to a life of prayer and penance.

August 2018 Former apostolic nuncio to the U.S. Carlo Maria Vigano claimed that Pope Francis knew about existing sanctions on McCarrick but chose to repeal them.

October 2018 The Vatican announced that it would conduct a review of files on McCarrick

November 2018 At their meeting ...the bishops were set to vote on a number of measures to deal with the clergy sex abuse crisis including a call for the Vatican to release all documents about McCarrick in accord with canon and civil law. However, after the Vatican requested shortly before the meeting that the bishops not take action on the abuse crisis until an international summit of bishops in Rome in early 2019, the bishops did not end up voting on the McCarrick measure because of fears they could be viewed at odds with Rome.

February 2019 Pope Francis laicized McCarrick shortly before convening a summit of bishops from around the world on clergy sexual abuse. The Vatican's accelerated investigation into McCarrick's case was reportedly an "administrative penal process," not a full juridical process but one used when the evidence in the case is overwhelming.

March 2019 Cardinal Pietro Parolin, the Vatican's Secretary of State, said the Vatican was still engaged in its investigation into McCarrick and that the Holy See would issue a declaration once it was finished.

June 2019 The U.S. bishops' National Advisory Council unanimously requested the bishops to urge the Holy See to "make public the results of diocesan and archdiocesan investigations of Theodore McCarrick."

November 11, 2019 O'Malley provided the update on the Vatican's investigation shortly after he and other bishops from New England arrived back in the U.S. from a visit with Pope Francis at the Vatican. "We were not afraid to bring up the question of the report on Theodore McCarrick, and we insisted on the importance of publishing a response to the many serious questions of this case," O'Malley said. O'Malley said the New England delegation made it clear to Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Pietro Parolin that bishops, priests, religious and the lay faithful in the U.S. were all anxiously awaiting the results of the investigation, of how McCarrick "could become an archbishop and cardinal, who knew what and when." "The long wait has resulted in great frustration on the part of bishops and our people, and indeed a harsh and even cynical interpretation of the seeming silence," O'Malley added Monday.

Cardinal Parolin "assured" the U.S. delegation of the Vatican's original intent to publish its response to the investigation before the U.S. bishops' November meeting in Baltimore, but the scope of the investigation and quantity of the information discovered in the process necessitated a later publishing date. "There is a desire, a commitment, to be thorough and transparent so as to answer peoples' questions and not simply to create more questions," O'Malley said of the Vatican. Cardinal O'Malley said he was shown a "hefty document" by the Vatican, which is being translated into Italian for a presentation to Pope Francis, with an intended publication by early 2020.
